SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

NOTHING LIKE IT

Its peculiar efficacy is due as much to the process and skill in compounding as to the ingredients themselves. Take it in time. It checks diseases in the outset, or if they be advanced will prove a potent cure.

FOR WHOSE BENEFIT

No Home should be Without It.

It takes the place of a doctor and costly prescriptions. All who lead sedentary lives will find it the best preventive of and cure for Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Piles and Mental Depression. No loss of time, no interference with business while taking. For children it is most innocent and harmless. No danger from exposure after taking. Cures Colic, Diarrhœa, Bowel Complaints, Feverishness and Feverish Colds. Invalids and delicate persons will find it the mildest Aperient and Tonic they can use. A little taken at night insures refreshing sleep and a natural evacuation of the bowels. A little taken in the morning sharpens the appetite, cleanses the stomach and sweetens the breath.

A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.

"I have been practicing medicine for twenty years and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system."
L. M. HINTON, M.D., Washington, Ark.

YOU AND I.

Not he who lays it on the shelf,
But he who spends his talent saves it.
He gives indeed who gives himself,
And best or worst is his who craves it.

A thousand wish our work success,
One brings us cheer because he speaks it.
A common thing is happiness,
He only never finds who seeks it.

The atom with the supreme sun
Of Nature's plan was made partaker:
Alike has each its course to run,
And show the wisdom of its Maker.

The steady seasons come and go,
The constant needle strangely falters;
The moon drawn sea sways to and fro;
Opinions change: truth never alters.

We may resist our foe's assaults,
His sneers that sting, his blows that batter:
Correction of our daily faults
We find another, harder matter.

Self has no claims when duty calls;
Our destinies receive our shaping:
Escape we may from prison walls,
But from ourselves there's no escaping.

The cruel conquests of the sword
Bring fleeting fame that soldiers sigh for:
The cheering smile and winning word
Bring love that thousands pine and die for.

An accident, a lucky star
Might lead us to the abbey's niches;
Not what we have, but what we are
Is the imperishable riches.

Is there a course we should pursue?
Through ruin's realm we must pursue it.
Is there a work for us to do?
Though death confront us we must do it.

Not how to die, but how to live,
Demands our care and best endeavor.
For character as light will give
When sun and stars are quenched forever.
—E. S. Pomeroy in Youth's Companion.

They Kill but Do Not Smoke.

The average Kaluli does not regard murder as a crime. It is kill or be killed in his own country, and he therefore regards the matter of the taking off of a friend most philosophically. "There is nothing to worry about; he is dead, and I killed him," he will tell you if you should inquire about a companion with whom he was on the best of terms the preceding winter. I have heard an Afghan, while purchasing a weapon, speak with evident gusto of the occasion when he would use the gun to murder a friend. It caused him as little concern, this contemplated crime, as if he had said, "Shall kill a chicken, if God so wills it, tomorrow for my pillau."

And yet there is something child ish and affectionate about these men. They never seem to forget a favor and repay it to the best of their ability. Unlike other Mohammedans, they do not observe the Koran with blind obstinacy, but occasionally stretch its precepts to accord with their ideas of religion. They do not drink, for that is directly against the law, nor do they smoke. San Francisco Chronicle.

The Kind of Music Baudelaire Liked.

Literature is on the border of science, draws inspiration from it, and finds in the marvels of physiology motifs of disquietude and fear—an unpublished shudder, in fact, to speak a little after the manner of Victor Hugo. Charles Baudelaire certainly had an influence on this particular movement. I hear him still telling us with a grimace not to be forgotten: "I adore Wagner. He had been one of the first to defend him in Paris. But the music I prefer is that of a cat hung up by his tail outside of a window and trying to stick to the panes of glass with its claws. There is an odd grating on the glass which I find at the same time strange, irritating and singularly harmonious." Jules Clarette in North American Review.

A Bogus Muzzle.

An amusing deception connected with dog muzzling came to light the other day in the Ternes quarter of Paris. An old lady, whose pet had been seized among others, complained that while her pug was captured the police allowed that of her neighbor, a painter, to roam at will without a muzzle. The inspector assured the lady that the artist's dog was always muzzled, and was somewhat taken aback on learning that the muzzle in question was merely painted on the animal's head. London Tit-Bits.

Money in Electricity.

A very recent estimate of the capital invested in the electrical industries in the United States is $720,000,000, and of this amount $350,000,000 represents the proportion which electric lighting and power have attained; $100,000,000 is also the estimated investment in electrical supplies, of which the electric lighting and railway appliances constitute a large proportion. - Pittsburg Dispatch.

The Prince of Wales, simple and unostentatious as he always desires his private visits to be, cannot be fittingly entertained for even two or three days without an expenditure of $15,000 or $20,000.

So well trained are a pair of horses owned by a farmer in Lancaster county, Pa., that they pull a harrow regularly across the field from morning until night without a driver.

In Africa and India and in South America monkeys are often employed to gather the fruit which grows too high to be reached by the natives.

England has one horse for every twelve persons, and only an average of four hours of daily sunshine in which to ride or walk.

In China wealthy people buy their coffins long before they need them, and exhibit them as ornamental pieces of furniture.

TELEGRAPH LINES IN THE TROPICS.

They Are Interfered with by Monkeys, Spiders, Plants and Other Things.

The business of telegraphing has its difficulties and is prolific of exasperations in this town and country, with dead wires and live wires, crosses and tangles, cyclones and blizzards, and auroras and "bugs." Telegraphic communication anywhere is subject to interruption from a hundred and one causes, and few people who kick about the service are aware of the difficulties to be overcome in maintaining a perfect electrical circuit. But in the tropics the maintenance of a telegraph line in good working order is a constant up hill fight against all manner of interrupting enemies that linemen and operators in this latitude never dream of.

In Brazil the wires get tangled up with the cablelike web of an immense spider, which, dripping with dew or rain, makes cross connections, short circuits and grounds almost daily. Ants often destroy the poles in a few weeks. Monkeys swing on the wires and break them, and in the forests creepers and ropelike withes overgrow the poles and wires every few weeks. All this is more or less true of all Central and South America.

In Cuba there is an orchid that incrusts the wire and causes leakage. In the West Indian islands the john crows, or turkey buzzards, make life miserable for the telegraph and telephone people. These big, heavy birds, the scavengers, are around in great numbers. They roost on the wires or fly up against them and invariably break them short off.

In one large town the telephone lines that ran by the public market had to be put underground because the buzzards congregated there in great numbers, rested on the wires and broke them almost nightly. On the pampas of Argentina the herds of practically wild cattle rub and butt against the poles and frequently break them down.

For some years it was altogether impossible to maintain a line of telegraph through Persia for more than a few days at a time. The natives regularly destroyed it as a device of the evil one. Finally the shah issued an edict making the loss of an ear the penalty for a first offense of destroying the telegraph line; the loss of a hand for the second, and death by being buried to the neck in the sand beside the telegraph line the penalty for a third offense. One eared men were common in Persia for several years, for the shah was determined to introduce civilizing influences.—New York Sun.

How Vultures Were Fooled.

Some sports took place at a station in upper Burmah, one of the events being what is popularly known as a "Victoria Cross race;" that is, the competitors have to ride some distance, taking two or three hurdles on their way, to a point where there are arranged a number of figures in stuffed cases, shaped like human bodies; they then dismount, fire a round of blank cartridge, pick up a dummy each, and race back. In this case, after the sports were over the dummies were left on the ground, and in about half an hour after the ground was deserted I noticed a vulture settle on the ground close to the dummies; in about another five minutes, more than thirty had collected.

The birds seemed much puzzled as they carefully inspected each lay figure, walking from one to the next all along the line, and eventually, after sitting in a circle for a short time, flew away. These birds must have discovered the dummies by sight, though I have often heard that vultures rely on their sense of smell as well.—Cor. London Spectator.

Oddities About Memory.

The memory remains intact and in perfect working order in cases where the left side of the brain is badly diseased, from which it may be inferred that the right side of the brain is the seat of this remarkable faculty. From the physiologist's point of view the power of memory is badly diminished by too much food, by an excess of physical exercise and by education! If this is true, the illiterate has a better memory than the educated man of the period. It has also been proved that the memory is better in the morning than in the evening, in summer than in winter, and much better in warm than in cold countries.—Chicago Tribune.

A Sure Thing.

A witty individual one morning wagered that he would ask the same question of fifty different persons and receive the same answer from each. The wit went to first one and then to another until he had reached the number of fifty. And this is how he won the bet. He whispered, half audibly, to each:

"I say, have you heard that Smith has failed?"

"What Smith?" queried the whole fifty, one after another, and it was decided that the bet had been fairly won.—London Tit-Bits.

Minute Parasites.

It would take three and one-fourth thousands (3,250) of the little vegetable parasites which grow on the human hair to cover the white center of a nonpareil "o." St. Louis Republic.

STUCK BY A PIN.

A Queer Spectacle on the Great New York and Brooklyn Bridge.

With an agonized, painful and tortured expression on her countenance and with a few small parcels in her hands, she was jostled, pushed and shoved on board a bridge train which was just about to start from the New York side the other evening during the flush of the evening traffic. She had evidently been shopping all day, and she was tired. Her light spring coat was open, revealing a trim, tight fitting suit of brown and a waist so slender and stemlike that you felt like lending her your arm for a reenforcement. She wore a hat that beggared description, and her feet were incased in tiny patent leather ties.

Yet she was anxious, cross or vexed about something, and the crowd disturbed her, and the noise and confusion jarred on her spirit. More through luck than courtesy she gained a seat, and as she dropped into it she heaved a sigh. No one seemed to notice her sigh, however, and she heaved louder. Her second sigh had the effect of attracting the well bred stare of the few women in the immediate vicinity, and of arresting the attention of a few men from their all absorbing evening papers. Just then the train began to move and she got up, coughed and looked sick.

She glared wildly around the car and then earnestly scrutinized the floor. With a gasp she fell back into her seat and tore off her coat and began to violently loosen the collar of her dress. In an instant several men were at her side, each in his own helpless manner offering his services and inquiring the nature of the attack. Was it vertigo, hemorrhage, heart failure or nausea? Appealingly she looked up into the face of an elderly woman bending over her and signified a desire to whisper. But the whisper proved to be just audible, for the bystanders overheard a hollow voice utter, "There is a pin sticking right into my back."

And sure enough the elderly woman found the pin in her back, put there by somebody to hold a rip caused by the straining of the over tightly drawn cloth. With profound utterances of gratitude the woman walked out of the car with her benefactress, and the other witnesses dispersed in their different directions, vaguely conscious of a feeling of regret that one of their own race, even though of the opposite sex, should exhibit herself as such a benign fool, first in strapping herself so tightly, and second in repairing damages with pins.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Antispasmodics.

Irregular nervous actions on the part of overworked or weak individuals frequently show a tendency to spasm and undue excitement which it is sometimes difficult to control. Hysteria is one form of it, insomnia or sleeplessness is another manifestation of it. The bromides have been found the best medicines to counteract this nervous, spasmodic action, and especially the bromide of potash and soda. If the bromide of potassium is rejected by the stomach there is some irritability in that region, and the soda salt should be used. At least four grains of the bromide of potash should be given to a child, and much larger doses should be given to adults.

Too small doses to have any effect are often administered. The bromides are nonpoisonous, and they can be used with considerable freedom among those who know nothing about the danger of drugs. They are also valuable sometimes in relieving the pain of slight attacks of colic and headache without leaving any bad after effects.—Yankee Blade.

A Vegetable Pepsin.

The useful properties of the papaw plant have long been known to the various natives, and have been taken advantage of by them, as can be seen by reference to the works of travelers who can themselves vouch for the accuracy of the accounts they narrate. Thus Drury, in "The Useful Plants of India," states that old hogs and poultry which are fed upon the leaves and fruit, however tough the meat they afford might otherwise be, are thus rendered perfectly tender and good if eaten as soon as killed. Browne, too, in his "Natural History of Jamaica," says that meat becomes tender after being washed with water to which the juice of the papaw tree has been added, and if left in such water ten minutes it will fall from the spit while roasting or separate into shreds while boiling.—Chambers' Journal.

Chinese Terms of Endearment.

In China a wife is never spoken of by her husband in a plain and straightforward way. Such playful terms as "my thorn in the ribs" and "my dull companion" are more usual, but leave something to be desired on the score of elegance. "The mean one of the inner room" has a distinct flavor of masculine selfishness about it.—Chicago Tribune.

Too Soon.

Doctor—Will you ever get well? Why, I'll have you on your feet again in a week.

Patient—That will never do. The railway company has promised to send a man up about that time to agree on a compromise.—Exchange.

SONOMA, DECEMBER 10, 1892.

H. H. GRANICE - - - - - - - - - - EDITOR

THE present condition of the market for wines is one of considerable interest both to the vineyardists and the heavy buyers. Prices are not yet established on a mercantile basis, though the fact of a material advance is admitted. Cellars that last year purchased wines at 9 to 12 cents a gallon and even less are now confronted with a demand for 15 to 18 cents per gallon for year-old wine, and some vineyards are holding for 20 cents and are confident they will get it. The stocks in sight of 1891 wines are greatly reduced, not being over one-half that of twelve months ago, while the production for 1892 will not exceed 12,000,000 gallons, against 18,000,000 gallons for 1891. The fact also of a possible decrease for future years until the vines planted upon resistant stock begin to bear is also an important feature of the market that is not ignored by the buyers. Outside markets are also affected. Chicago and New York, which are the principal consumers of the better grades, have advanced prices, though the advance is not yet definitly established, while New Orleans, which consumes 300,000 gallons per month of our inferior grades, has advanced prices 5½ cents with a prospect of an early increase over that figure.—Call.

[illegible] briefly. The remained coldly. "None of them was intoxicated; all were representative men, so far as strength of character goes. One was a well known public man. He dropped tears all over my desk because I sympathized with him over the loss of $20,000 which he unwisely invested. Another, a well known writer, wept through the singing of a Hungarian slumber song; he said it had reopened an old wound. The third and fourth cried because they had been jilted, and the fifth was moved to tears at my offer to be a sister to him. For the remaining two there was good excuse. One had just lost his child; the other was lamenting the wildness of a son. But the point is this, that at one time I had appealed to five of these men in behalf of an unfortunate whose case was the saddest I had ever known in my experience, and the matter had distinctly bored them. The father of the wayward son, and the young man who—er—didn't like sisters, had tried to appear interested, but it was for my sake. They afterward helped that particular unfortunate, but that, too, was due to my interest.

"I can easily understand why a man cries when a women refuses to marry him," said the meek little woman beside the last speaker, "for I have heard so much of that and—ahem—have seen it myself. They all seem to cry when they're refused

Foutts to Folsom Again.

Sheriff Mulgrew left Friday for Folsom, taking with him George Foutts, who is serving a five years' term there for arson. Foutts was tried here for perjury this week but the jury failed to agree.

It is not known whether he will be tried again on the charge, or not. It is hardly likely that the case will come up again during Mr. Burnett's term of office. Many think Foutts should be tried again and be punished for what they construe to be flagrant perjury, while others see in him the weak tool of others, more guilty they say, than he. These think he is being punished enough. Foutts' mother was here during the recent trial and sat beside him during all the proceedings.—Republican.

A Little Girl's Experience in a Light house.

Mr and Mrs. Loren Trescott are keepers of the Gov Lighthouse at Sand Beach, Mich. and are blessed with a daughter, four years old. Last April she was taken down with Measles, followed with a dreadful Cough and turning into a fever. Doctors at home and at Detroit treated her, but in vain, she grew worse rapidly, until she was a mere "handful of bones." Then she cried Dr. King's New Discovery and after the use of two and a half bottles, was completely cured. Just What is Wanted.

Business is alive to a great coming event, and preparations of all sorts for the Columbian Exposition in 1893 are active and earnest. Just what is wanted of a unique kind, has happily already made its appearance, and we have before us "The Official Portfolio of the World's Columbian Exposition," illustrated from Water Color Drawings.

This portfolio is a rare and beautiful exponent of the main architectural features of the Great Exposition at Chicago in 1893. The fourteen magnificent structures are faithfully exhibited, while the Bird's-eye View gives a realistic glance at the lay of the grounds, with their principal buildings, lagoons, etc. The illustrations are exact reproductions, in water color effects, of the original drawings, made especially for this purpose from the official plans, by America's best known water color artist, Charles Graham.

A copy of this exceptionally fine production will be sent to any address upon receipt of 10 cents in postage stamps, by The Charles A. Vogeler Co., Baltimore, Md.

Consideration of a petition of A. Faught and others to change W. P. Barnes from Mark West to Fulton school district was postponed until January 3rd, 1893.

On motion of Mr. Cady the board adjourned to meet Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock.

TUESDAY, December 7th,

The Supervisors met pursuant to adjournment. The regular routine of business was transacted. The following additional road overseers bills were allowed: N. H. Cox, $300.25; J. E. Kearney, $457; O. Elmore, $125.25.

Thursday, Jan. 5, at 1:30 P. M. was fixed as the time for hearing a petition for a change in the Bennett Valley road over lands belonging to Kohler & Frohling. The viewer's report was read and placed on file.

Mr. Cady moved that $250 be allowed from the general fund to O. Elmore, road overseer of Penn's Grove district, to rebuild bridges in his district that needed immediate attention, there being no money in that district fund to pay for the same. Carried unanimously.

In the matter of the petition of Peter Hauto and others for the extension of a county road near Embarcadero, Mr. Cady moved that the board approve the bond accompanying petition and that P. B. Norris, G. W. McIntyre and L. E. Rigksecker be appointed viewers to view and lay out said proposed road, and report at the next meeting of the board.

Mr. Cady was excused from attendance for the rest of Tuesday and Thursday.

The following contracts have been let for county farm supplies and hospital: F. P. Weeks, meat; Kopf & Donovan, George F. King and F. P. Grace, groceries.

Mrs. Mary E. O'Fallon

of Piqua, O., says the Physicians are Astonished, and look at her like one

Raised from the Dead

Long and Terrible Illness from Blood Poisoning

Completely Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Mrs. Mary E. O'Fallon, a very intelligent lady of Piqua, Ohio, was poisoned while assisting physicians at an autopsy 5 years ago, and soon terrible ulcers broke out on her head, arms, tongue and throat. Her hair all came out. She weighed but 73 lbs., and saw no prospect of help. At last she began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and at once improved; could soon get out of bed and walk, she says: "I became perfectly cured by and am now a well woman. I weigh 128 lbs., eat well and do the work for a large family. My case seems a wonderful recovery and physicians look at me in astonishment, as though like one raised from the dead."

Hood's Sarsaparilla

HOOD'S PILLS should be in every family medicine chest. Once used, always preferred.

Heavy Bond.

Treasurer Stofen has filed his new bond for the incoming term. The bond is for $100,000, for which the principal is liable, and his sureties are bound for $20,000 each and qualify for double the sum of their respective liability on the bond. They are as follows: Mat Doyle, $40,000; A. P. Overton, $40,000; Con Shea, $40,000; J. H. Brush, $40,000; Hollis Hitchcock, $40,000; total, $200,000.

A Herald of the Infant Year.

Clip the last thirty years or more from the century, and the segment will represent the term of the unbounded popularity of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The opening of the year 1893 will be signalized by the appearance of a fresh Almanac of the Bitters, in which the uses, derivation and action of this world-famous medicine will be lucidly set forth. Everybody should read it. The calendar and astronomical calculations to be found in this brochure are always astonishingly accurate, and the statistics, illustrations, humor and other reading matter rich in interest and full of profit. The Hostetter Company, of Pittsburgh, Pa., publish it themselves. They employ more than sixty hands in the mechanical work, and more than eleven months in the year are consumed in its preparation. It can be obtained without cost of all druggists and country dealers, and is printed in English, German, French, Welsh, Norwegian, Swedish, Holland, Bohemian and Spanish.

NEW TO-DAY.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

Is superior to all other preparations claiming to be blood-purifiers. First of all, because the principal ingredient used in it is the extract of genuine Honduras sarsaparilla root, the variety richest in medicinal properties. Also, because the yellow dock, being raised expressly for the Company, is always fresh and of the very best kind. With equal discrimination and care, each of the other ingredients are selected and compounded. It is because it is always the same in appearance, flavor, and effect, and, being highly concentrated, only small doses are needed. It is, therefore, the most economical blood-purifier in existence. It makes good, nourishing, work pleasant, sleep refreshing, and life enjoyable. It searches out all impurities in the system and expels them harmlessly by the natural channels. AYER'S Sarsaparilla gives elasticity to the step, and imparts to the aged and infirm, renewed health, strength, and vitality.

THE Superior Medicine

The Sonoma Public School closed yesterday for a vacation during the holidays, much to the delight of the pupils.

Dr. Lea Schillinger of Petaluma, a dentist of 14 years experience, will be at Union Hotel next Thursday. Give him a call. Speaks German.

The young trees in the Plaza, quite a number of which were blown down during the late gale, have been again set up and made fast to stout stakes.

The alarm of fire which brought out the volunteer firemen at half-past seven o'clock last Wednesday morning was caused by a blazing chimney in the City Bakery on First-street East. No damage was done.

Brandy distilleries all over the valley have fired up their furnaces the past week and are now in full blast. The grape brandy industry of Sonoma is one of considerable importance and thousands of gallons will be distilled this winter.

The new passenger coach which has been put on the afternoon train of the Sonoma Branch of the San Francisco and North Pacific Railway is a great improvement over the old smoker and a great convenience to the patrons of the road.

Mushroom gathering is all the rage in this valley at the present time, and some fine baskets have been gathered on the Kiser and Marti dairy farms the past week. One enterprising youngster on Sunday last gathered a market basket full and sold the same to a city visitor for $5.

Work on the new bridge at the Duhring crossing on Second-street East was commenced this week by the contractor, J. O. Burkhalter of Santa Rosa. When the structure is completed it will be a great convenience to those residents living south of Napa street and east of Broadway. The bridge should have been built thirty years ago.

The following have been elected officers of Sonoma Parlor, No. 111, N. S. G. W., for the ensuing term: J. E. Poppe, Past President; G. A. Goess, President; Peter G. Keil, First Vice President; George Engler, Second Vice President; Maurie Spencer, Third Vice President; Geo Breitenbach, Secretary; S. Harris, Treasurer; T. H. Ellis, Marshal. Trustees—W. W. Ellis, Peter G. Keil, G. A. Goess.

A. Pinelli, the well-known basalt block contractor, was arrested last Tuesday on complaint of one Emilio Mozzio, charged with purloining an old wheelbarrow, which the complainant claims is his property. Mr. Pinelli was released on his own recognizance. The case will be tried before Judge Cheney and a jury this morning. In justice to Mr. Pinelli we will state that he claims the charge against him has been trumped up by his enemies.

THE CHEMICAL WORKS.

Subscriptions Continue to Come In.

E. K. Stevenot, the enterprising projector of the contemplated chemical works in Sonoma, reports the local subscription list as creeping up slowly but surely. Already the people of Sonoma have subscribed liberally to the capital stock. As soon as town and valley have been closely canvassed and the requisite number of shares subscribed to give Sonoma a controlling interest in the works the subscription list for the stock will be open to investors in San Francisco and other places until the required amount of money has been raised to start the works. After this has been accomplished, a certain amount of stock will be held back by the company as a reserve fund.

AKERS VS. HALE.

After Nearly Thirty Years the Suit Comes to an End.

The land suit of Akers vs. Hale, involving title to a portion of the Schell ranch at Shellville, has at length run its course, and the plaintiff, Stephen Akers, has been put in possession of the land in question by the Sheriff of this county. This vexatious suit has been tried in the Courts of the land both of high and low degree. District, Federal, Superior and Supreme Courts have all rendered opinions in the case. The latter tribunal a few years ago decided in favor of Stephen Akers, since which time the case has come up periodically in the Superior Court of this county This case has been stubbornly contested by the parties to the suit for nearly thirty years, with the result that Mr. Akers holds his own in so far as the land in controversy is concerned.

Union Depot at Shellville.

C. H. Whiting, General Superintendent of the San Francisco and North Pacific Railway (the Donahue system), was in town yesterday on business connected with the building of a union railway depot at Shellville to be used by his company and the Southern Pacific. This depot has been contemplated for several years, but owing to the vexatious land suit of Akers vs. Hale title to the land sought to be used for depot purposes could not be secured. This suit having come to an end between the parties litigant it is now the intention of the Donahue and Southern Pacific people to build a union depot at Shellville, provided a site can be obtained from Stephen Akers, who is now and has been for over thirty years, the owner of the land in controversy. A union depot at the above place will be a great accommodation to the patrons of both systems in that section of Sonoma Valley.

The Weather and Crops.

The weather the past week has been remarkably favorable to the young grain on the summer fallowed lands in this valley. The late storm saturated the ground sufficiently to sprout the seed, since which time, owing to the warm, sunshiny days, it has attained a growth of from one to three inches in many of the fields. Should the present favorable weather continue for a week or two longer immense crops of hay and grain will be assured on the Jones-Pless ranch, and other grain farms bordering Sonoma creek south of town.

The prospects of our dairymen are also looking bright. The young grass has started up all over the valley and in a few weeks there will be plenty of feed for stock.

Under Sheriff.

As predicted in these columns several weeks ago, Geo. F. Allen of Petaluma has been appointed by Sheriff-elect Sam I. Allen Under Sheriff. He has also selected as his Deputies Frank J. Murphy of Guerneville and Frank Brophy of Santa Rosa. These appointments ought to meet with the approval of every one of Sheriff-elect Allen's supporters.

WATMAUGH'S TATTLER.

Miss Adah Hodgson has returned to her home in Santa Rosa after spending a few days with her friend Miss May Kraft.

Miss Mamie Rudden, after spending several weeks at the home of Mrs. S. A. Champlin, has returned to San Francisco.

Mr. S. Sweetland has returned to his home in Napa after spending a few days with his niece Mrs. A. Champlin.

CITY TRUSTEES MEETING.

Sonoma Water Works Ordered to Produce a Statement.

The City Trustees met in regular monthly session last Wednesday evening, a full Board being present.

Trustee Litzius was authorized to purchase 50 feet of three-quarters of an inch hose.

On motion a warrant was ordered drawn in favor of Trustee Seipp for $375 to be expended on the construction of the new bridge at Duhring's crossing when the same shall have been accepted from the contractor by the Trustees.

The following resolution in regard to the Sonoma Water Works was introduced by Trustee Litzius and adopted: "Be it resolved that the City Clerk is hereby instructed to notify in writing the owners of the Sonoma Water Works that they are required to furnish to the Board of Trustees of the city of Sonoma, in the month of January, 1893, a detailed statement, verified by oath, showing the name of each water rate payer, his or her residence and the amount paid for water by each of such water rate payers during the year preceding the date of said statement, and also showing all revenue derived from all sources and an itemized statement of expenditures made for supplying water during said time. And that they are further required to furnish another detailed statement, verified by oath, showing the amount of money actually expended annually since commencing business in the purchase, construction and maintenance respectively of the property necessary to the carrying on of its business and also the gross cash receipts annually for the same period from all sources."

Sheriff Allen's Jailor.

Harry Weise, the handsome young bachelor of Glen Ellen, will be Sheriff Allen's Jailor at Santa Rosa. The appointment will meet with the approbation of every voter in Sonoma Township who supported Mr. Allen for Sheriff, not to mention the other fellows, many of whom are personal friends and admirers of Mr. Weise, and who differ with him on politics only. Mr. Weise will take possession of the County Jail the first of January. A wedding, we predict, will be the outcome of this appointment in the near future.

Leg Broken.

Jas. Pieratt of Glen Ellen met with an accident one day last week which will lay him up for some meti He was riding horseback and when opposite Beatty's slaughter house in Glen Ellen the animal stumbled and fell. Mr. Pieratt was thrown to the ground and the horse fell upon his right leg fracturing the thigh bone. The accident was witnessed by an acquaintance, who went to his assistance and conveyed him to his home, where he is now confined badly crippled.

Behind the Times.

Christmas and New Years are close at hand, but no one would be reminded of the fact by scanning the columns of the INDEX-TRIBUNE. Every country paper in the State at the present time is filled with holiday announcements. The INDEX-TRIBUNE is an exception to the rule, as not one solitary holiday ad. appears in these columns. The Sonoma merchants are away behind the times in the matter of using printers ink. Sonoma is a curious town anyhow.

Jack Frost.

The mornings the past week have been cold and frosty. On Wednesday and Thursday morning before sunrise the house-tops, fences and ground were covered with a coating of frost an eighth of an inch thick, giving the town a wintry appearance. The frost has been of benefit to orchardists, however, as it has had a tendency to keep back the fruit buds.

Sonoma Public School.

The Grammer School will reopen January 16, 1893, with Prof. Abshire, Principal; Miss Mandilla Gingery, Vice-Principrl, Miss Susie Shaw, Intermediate and Miss Minnie Cook, Primary.

Go to the Sonoma House for good accommodations. Rates reasonable. *

STRANGE DISAPPEARANCE.

What Has Become of John Champion of Cloverdale?

John Champion, Secretary of the Cloverdale Wine Company, who for a number of years has been looked upon as one of the solid business men of the county, disappeared from Cloverdale two weeks ago, since which time no trace of him has been discovered.

It is the opinion of many of his friends that he has made way with himself, while others fear that he has met with foul play. The chances are, however, that both theories are incorrect as Champion was heavily in debt and it now looks as though he had taken a trip to Canada or Mexico.

It transpires that he owes a brother in England $10,000. It has also been learned that he owed a Santa Rosa bank $3,000 and that W. D. Sink went on his note as security. The bank secured itself by taking mortgages on wine, so it is safe and Mr. Sink will probably lose nothing.

Frank Nervo, who has been working for Champion for many years and who gave him $2,035.80 of his earnings to invest, and which he has never seen since, was in Santa Rosa Tuesday and sued out an attachment against him.

Mrs. Champion, a short time before her husband disappeared secured a homestead on the home place, which has been valued at various sums running from $10,000 to $15,000. It is not known how much Champion's liabilities foot up but they are in the neighborhood of $20,000. Many theories have been advanced—suicide, drowning by accident and murder It is stated that he did not beat the Cloverdale Wine Company out of much.

No better preparation for the hair has ever been invented than Ayer's Hair Vigor. It restores the original color to faded and gray hair, and imparts that natural gloss and freshness, everyone so much admires. Its reputation is world-wide.

The correctness of the maxim "nothing succeeds like success" is well exempilfied in Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The most successful combination of alteratives and tonics, it always succeeds in curing diseases of the blood, and hence its wonderful popularity.

S.S.S. CURES MALARIAL POISON

Nature should be assisted to throw off impurities of the blood. Nothing does it so well, so promptly, or so safely as Swift's Specific.

LIFE HAD NO CHARMS.

For three years I was troubled with malarial poison, which caused my appetite to fail, and I was greatly reduced in flesh, and life lost all its charms. I tried mercurial and potash remedies, but to no effect. I could get no relief. I then decided to try S.S.S. A few bottles of this wonderful medicine made a complete and permanent cure, and I now enjoy better health than ever.

SONOMA INDEX - TRIBUNE.

SONOMA, SATURDAY, DEC. 10, 1892.

That Chestnut Gown.

"There's another thing I'd like to tell Mrs. Langtry," said a woman at a reception, "and that is that I can never forgive her for telling a reporter about that one black gown of hers with which she went through a London season at the time when she could afford but one dress. You remember the story—everybody does—how she turned down the neck one evening, wore it high the next, and mended and pressed it between times, and how she ends up by saying, 'Never tell me that a woman can't dress well who has a single frock,' etc.

"Well, that wretched little story came out when she first bobbed up into popularity years ago, and it's like the Wandering Jew—no, more like the other fellow—it's still going to and fro upon the earth, seeking whom it may devour. It's always traveling, and it looks in on you at least about every five or six weeks. It pops up in the woman's column, leers at you from the editorial page, and even winks the other eye from the staid, respectable family journal.

"It isn't maddening enough to be badgered and pursued in this way, but your husband must needs make a point of reading that last paragraph out loud with exceeding relish, and then, if you lose your temper, thinks you are calling him a stingy old thing under your breath.

"Now the next paper I see that in I shall stop taking instanter. The editor that doesn't know a ten-year-old chestnut when he sees it isn't to be relied on for news. I don't believe a woman editor would do such a thing. She'd know that old black silk gown the minute she laid eyes on it."—New York Recorder.

Didn't Care to Go.

A young married woman who takes an intelligent interest in current topics discussed the probabilities of a journey to Mars with some friends at her home the other day. She said, "I presume that some of us will live to see the time when the inhabitants of the earth can journey to Mars." The remark was overheard by Maggie, the new chambermaid, who had been in this country but a few weeks and had scarcely recovered from the effects of the voyage. At her first opportunity to speak with her mistress alone she asked, "Say, mum, and where is that Mars?" The lady carefully explained to the unsophisticated girl a few simple facts about our neighboring planet and facetiously suggested, "You may go there some day, Maggie."

"And do you be after goin?" asked Maggie, with a startled look.

"I may if an opportunity should occur," replied the mistress demurely.

"Thin, mum, I'll be after lookin for a new place, if you plaze. I don't want to go to Mars, 'cause I gits so moighty sick travelin on the water."—New York Times.

A Radical Cure.

The pastor of a church in a mining village was greatly annoyed by the conduct of the younger members of the flock.

When a young woman got tired of the evening sermon she would rise and go out. A moment later her "beau" would seize his hat and sheepishly follow her to escort her home.

By the time the sermon was over it was mostly the old people who were left to hear the conclusion of it. Mr. Blank smothered his annoyance for some time. At last he resolved to act.

A youth grew sleepy one Sunday evening, and picking up his coat and hat stepped into the aisle. To his dismay the minister stopped short in his discourse.

"Young man," he said, "the lady who went out last is not the one you wish to escort home. When she goes I will let you know. Sit down. In future when a young woman goes out I will call on the proper young man to take care of her."

He resumed his sermon. There was much giggling and a great deal of wrath. But his sermons were not interrupted again during the whole winter.—Yankee Blade.

"August Flower"

Mrs. Sarah M. Black of Seneca, Mo., during the past two years has been affected with Neuralgia of the Head, Stomach and Womb, and writes: "My food did not seem to strengthen me at all and my appetite was very variable. My face was yellow, my head dull, and I had such pains in my left side. In the morning when I got up I would have a flow of mucus in the mouth, and a bad, bitter taste. Sometimes my breath became short, and I had such queer, tumbling, palpitating sensations around the heart. I ached all day under the shoulder blades, in the left side, and down the back of my limbs. It seemed to be worse in the wet, cold weather of Winter and Spring; and whenever the spells came on, my feet and hands would turn cold, and I could get no sleep at all. I tried everywhere, and got no relief before using August Flower. Then the change came. It has done me a wonderful deal of good during the time I have taken it and is working a complete cure." ④

My wife was troubled with nervousness about one year before she took Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic, and at that time had very severe attacks of spasm, convulsion, and pains in different parts of the body; when in this state her lower jaws would act violently and set sometimes, bite her tongue, breathe heavily, then short, then seemed to stop entirely, get a wild look in her eyes and rolling around, then stop sometimes; it would take two men to hold her in bed, otherwise her body would cramp and be so for two hours. She took but two bottles of the Nerve Tonic, which cured her entirely of all these torments, which myself and wife gladly testify it truly had the desired effect. D. S. M'GILLIS.

Why Electric Cars Move Evenly.

"Do you know why an electric car goes up hill slowly, as though drawn by pony mules?" asked an electrician the other day.

"Well, I'll tell you," said he. "There is a certain amount of voltage or electromotive force distributed over the line, and in order to keep each car running at a general average rate of speed no car can be allowed to usurp more than its share of pressure. For instance, if one electric car should be thrown wide open and permitted to run up hill at the same rate of speed it descends a hill it would for a minute reduce the time of every other car on the road. Hence the motormen have positive orders about slowing down at every pronounced rise in the roadbed.—St. Louis Republic.

What Revived Him.

"Smith was injured in a railway accident and lay insensible for a long time."

"Did the doctors finally bring him to?"

"No. Somebody whispered that Smith had an excellent case, and no doubt could collect heavy damages from the company. That revived him."—Exchange.

After Many Years.

In the year 1400, or thereabouts, workmen were employed to put choir stalls in Lincoln cathedral, England, and were told in the early English vernacular of the day to hurry the job up, as several big functions were soon to come off. But lots of things happened; money got to be exceedingly scarce, and the men weren't paid very promptly. Although there were no Knights of Labor then, human nature was pretty much the same as it is now, and the men knocked off, remarking, "No pay, no work."

The clergy were so busy running the county political machine that they didn't have time to arrange the matter, and the finishing of the stalls was postponed from time to time until the present day. At last, however, dean and chapter think they see their way to complete this Fifteenth century job, and are calling for estimates from woodcarvers. England is a little slow, but she does get there after a few centuries.—New York Tribune.

The Germans and Parisian Society.

French feeling against Germany runs very high at the present moment. A member of the German embassy in Paris, who was recently over here, complained bitterly of the social ostracism to which he and his colleagues are subjected at the hands of the most polite nation of Europe. No section of Parisian society asks them out except to purely official entertainments; they belong to no clubs, and would certainly be blackballed if they ventured to put up for any. The events connected with the unfortunate visit of the Empress Frederick, and the part the German embassy played in her ill advised expedition to Versailles, have, of course, embittered the social relations of French and Germans in Paris not a little.—Pall Mall Gazette.

"Rats!"

Lew Hayes, of Morgantown, W. Va., relates that a few days ago, while passing along the road near Collin's ferry, he noticed two large Norway rats going down a hill toward a stream, each rat holding an end of a straw. When they reached the water's edge the almost rat waded in, still leading its companion, which, when it reached the water, stopped and drank eagerly. When the thirsty animal had finished drinking the other turned, and with the straw still in its mouth led the way to the top of the bank. When they reached the road Hayes killed the led rat, and found that it was totally blind, its eyes being completely gone.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A young daughter died at 12 o'clock Friday night; at 1:20 her mother followed. The next night at 12 o'clock the father died, and at 1:20 o'clock his mother passed away.—San Francisco Bulletin.

EXPLANATION.—The following picture contains four faces, a man and his three daughters. Any one can find the man's face, but it is not so easy to distinguish the faces of the three young ladies. The picture was published in a few newspapers some time ago, and attracted considerable attention to our standard remedies. We now offer a new prize competition in connection with it. As the sole object is to introduce our medicines into new homes, those who entered the former competition are requested not to compete in this one. As to the reliability of "The Ford Pill Co.," and the estimation in which their medicines are held in Toronto, Canada, where they are best known, patrons are referred to the daily newspapers, wholesale druggists and leading business houses generally of Toronto.

The proprietors of "The Ford Pill Co.," will give an elegant pair of Shetland Ponies, Carriage and Harness, valued at $600, (delivered free in any part of the United States, to the first person who can make out the three daughters' faces. To the second will be given an elegant Lady's Gold Watch, set in sapphires and diamonds. NAGLE IN COURT.

In the Justice's Court of Santa Rosa Township, Sonoma County, California.

J. W. RAGSDALE, Plaintiff, vs. F. G. NAGLE, Defendant.

The plaintiff for cause of action against the defendant, alleges: That on the 16th day of November, 1888, said defendant, F. G. Nagle, received from G. W. Call the sum of one hundred (100) dollars, the property of the Sonoma County Abstract Bureau; that of said money said defendant, Nagle, returned to said Bureau the sum of $20 only, and retained, and ever since has retained, the balance of said $100, to-wit, $80, for his own use, and that no part of said $80 has ever been paid; that said Bureau assigned said claim to plaintiff.

For a further and separate cause of action plaintiff alleges: That defendant is indebted to plaintiff in the sum of $80 for money had and received from G. W. Call, November 16th, 1888, for the use and benefit of the Sonoma County Abstract Bureau, which claim has been assigned to the plaintiff, and that no part of the same has ever been paid.

Wherefore, plaintiff prays for a judgment against defendant for the sum of $80 and costs.

RUTLEDGE & PRESSLEY, Attorneys for Plaintiff.

Dec. 9, 1891, complaint filed, summons issued and served. Dec. 15 default and judgment entered against defendant for $80 and costs. Dec. 16th, Nagle pays judgment.
